THE WEDDING BANQUET

Even more sacramental allusions are found in the image of the wedding banquet of the king's son. This portrayal of a future when God is all in all is at the heart of Christ's parable of the wedding banquet (Mt 22:1-14). A similar parable is found in Lk 14:15-24. In Luke Christ tells this parable in response to this praise of the kingdom to come by one of His hearers, "Blessed is the one who will eat at the feast in the kingdom of God" (Lk 14:15).

In Matthew, this feast is described as celebrating the union of the king's son with his bride, which represents the Messiah becoming one with his people. It is the long-awaited union of the Lord and His beloved. St John Chrysostom explains the wedding imagery in this parable and connects it with similar expressions in other Scriptures: "You may ask, 'Why is it called a marriage?' – That you may learn God's tender care, His yearning toward us, the cheerfulness of it. There is no sorrow there: all things are filled with spiritual joy. Therefore, John also calls Him a bridegroom and Paul says, 'I have espoused you to one husband' and 'This is a great mystery, but I speak concerning Christ and the Church.'"

Those who are invited, however, do not see the eternal significance of this event. They are busy with the things of this age – their view of reality was limited to their business interests. Their short-sightedness cost them everything and others were invited in their place. In Luke, even family life is considered a poor excuse for ignoring the invitation to the king's banquet.

The setting of this parable in Matthew gives us a key to its meaning. The Lord has just entered Jerusalem on Palm Sunday. He teaches using three parables against the Jewish leaders: the parables of the two sons, the vineyard tenants and the wedding banquet. Each of them features an ungrateful and unresponsive reply to the master's call.

The parable of the two sons (Mt 21:28-32) concludes with this admonition: "Truly I tell you, tax collectors and prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God ahead of you. For John came to you to show you the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him, but the tax collectors and the prostitutes did. And even after you saw this, you did not repent and believe him" (v. 32). This reference to John the Forerunner points to the coming of the Messiah as the event which people were called to acknowledge and to which they refused to respond. Official religious leaders will be replaced by prostitutes and the Jewish people by Gentiles in the Messianic age which has already begun.
